Auto thieves are stealing cars and tools and using the cars to go hunting in. Dr. W. H. Pickles found his Ford car on Birch street Monday after it had been driven more than 200 miles and used for a hunting trip by the thieves.

In the car when found was a rabbit's foot, an extra set of Ford tools, a pair of chains, some lubricating oil and grease which Dr. Pickles believes were stolen from some other car by the thieves who took his auto. The car was not badly damaged, although it had been driven hard. Dr. Pickles is holding the extra set of tools and grease for the owners.

Doctors Said He Had Dropsy

Some time ago I had an attack of dropsy which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy. I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your attorneys, I decided to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise of your Swamp-Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful. Yours very truly,

POOL SHOOTING WILL BE PROBED

Walter Coles May Waive Hearing; Alleged He Fired Shots at County Judge.

Walter Coles, charged with assault to murder upon county Judge Adrian Pool, may waive preliminary hearing in Justice J. M. Deaver's court and the case may go direct to the grand jury. Coles is alleged to have fired several shots with a pistol into the ranch house of Judge Pool, near Canutillo, early Friday morning. The trouble is said to have started earlier at night when Coles went to the Pool ranch and had words with Lincoln, a negro employed at the ranch. Lincoln is said to have resented something Coles said.

Three Shots Fired.
Later, when Judge Pool stopped at Canutillo on his way home, Coles is alleged to have told him that the negro must leave the country. Judge Pool, it is stated, told Coles to keep away from the ranch, but a few hours later Coles drove up and called to the judge, who had retired. He did not respond, whereupon Coles is said to have fired several shots into the pool house. Coles is then said to have left the house.

Judge Pool refused to file complaint against Coles and the complaint was made by sheriff Peyton J. Edwards. Judge Pool declined to make any statement of the affair. Coles resides near Canutillo and could not be reached by phone. Judge Peyton F. Edwards, his attorney, declined to make a statement. Coles is now at liberty on a bond of $1000.

JAPANESE MERCHANT WILL RECOVER FROM ASSAULT

S. H. Mory, the Japanese merchant who was beaten and robbed in his store at 111 Park street Monday afternoon, has not yet sufficiently recovered to give a detailed account of the robbery.

When customers entered his little store Monday afternoon they found him unconscious on the floor behind his counter with a pool of blood near his head. He had evidently been beaten with a piece of gas pipe about 18 inches long, which was found near the body. The assault was made in order to rob the store, as the police reported about $50 missing and a number of the shelves were stripped of canned goods while all of the meat was taken.

It is believed that the robbery was done by Mexicans and that they waited until the store was empty of customers before making the assault. Mory is said to be a muscular man and there were evidences in the store that he made a desperate fight. He will recover.

EDITOR OF OLD DAILY NEWS DIES

J. F. Mitchim, Tried For Killing Monroe Harrell, Dies in Missouri

J. F. Mitchim, former publisher of the El Paso Daily News, and the man who was tried for the killing of Monroe Harrell, an ex-employee, died recently at his old home in De Soto, Mo. Copies of the De Soto Press, of which Mr. Mitchim was editor, have been received here telling of his death.

Mr. Mitchim came to El Paso in 1904 and took charge of the Daily News, which was being published at that time on Mills street, where the Standard grocery is now located. Prior to coming here he was the editor of the De Soto Press, which he sold to his brother, C. C. Mitchim, who some time later married Mrs. C. E. Kelly's sister. He was a candidate for state senator in Missouri in 1906 and was defeated by one vote.

Killing Sensational.
The killing of Harrell created a sensation at the time it occurred. Harrell had been employed on the News as an advertising man and had quit. A photograph which was taken of the old dance hall on South Broadway figured in the shooting. The photograph was made for publication in the News and Harrell was told to believe that his likeness would appear in it. He notified the News not to publish the picture, it was said at the time, and the quarrel which resulted in his death followed in the old News office on May 28, 1908. Harrell was shot by Mitchim in front of the News office. Harrell was a prominent member of the Masons and was given a midnight funeral by the Scottish Rite before his body was returned to Oklahoma for burial. Mitchim was tried and acquitted of the charge later in the 14th district court, pleading that Harrell was assaulting him with a slingshot, after having threatened his life.

Detective "Billy" Smith "Comes Back" with Punch When Man Insults Woman

City detective "Billy" Smith, former pugilist, demonstrated that he could "come back" with his old-time punch when he appeared in the role of the protector of women.

The affair occurred near the library square. Two well-dressed women, who were awaiting the arrival of some friends, were accosted by two rather shabbily dressed men who asked for some money to buy something to eat. They were refused, whereupon one of the men made an insulting remark. Detective Smith, coming out of the Linden hotel, heard the remark and, crossing the street, knocked the man down. When he started to kick the prostrate man, one of the women intervened and the man was allowed to depart. When the trouble started the other man ran away.
